Skating Trip

" SUNSET ON FROZEN BIG LAKE "

This winter, the Sturgeon River has frozen exceptionally smooth, which means that a skating trip from St. Albert, 4 miles up the Sturgeon River to Big Lake is possible. The last two Sundays, many skating enthusiasts have taken advantage of this rare opportunity. The ice has not been this smooth for many, many years. One of our staff members made this trip taking with him his camera. He took several different pictures, some of which we are publishing in this issue. We advise all our skater-readers to try this trip, not only for the exercise, but also because the scenery is so impressive. The freshish ice fields and the sunset over Big Lake was really fantastic. We didn't know that we could enjoy such majestic nature so close to our own St. Albert.

The second by-law will be in regard to licensing, the Councillors involved are Montpetit and Desbruijn. The third will be regarding traffic, and Councillors Wheatling and Stewart are looking into this.

When the Liquor Control Board definitely decides what site to build the Liquor Store on, Council will rezone that area. Until then, Council felt they could make no decisions.

Parkland West of Vital Grandin School

A CURE FOR BUSINESS HEADACHES

From time to time it has been our pleasure to report the establishment of a new business or service in St. Albert which adds to the number of things we can buy, do, or have done for us, right here at home. This time, it is Kam's Accounting Service, established to help us with our business problems. As the proprietor, Rene Kambouroff put it, "This is the place to bring your headaches". If we continue in that line, our medical men will think we are encroaching on their territory, but seriously, it is a fine thing to have somewhere to take our business, or individual, accounting and tax problems. "Kam" brings to the task, the benefit of some years of experience in the accounting field, the last two of which were spent with Commercial Accounting in Edmonton, specialists in the income tax accounting field. He is prepared to set up books for businesses, and to keep them in good order, so that the owners can determine just how they stand, month by month. He is also prepared to sort out that sheaf of statements and bills and properly keep track of your Accounts Receivable and Payable. You can take him the mess of slips, receipts and figures on which most of us base our income tax returns, and he will sort them out, make out and file your income tax return, and be prepared to do any necessary follow-up during the following year. Another service, is the preparation of financial statements for organizations to place before their members at annual meetings, or for businesses to submit to their stockholders. We can see where Kam's Accounting Service should be a great boon to the people of St. Albert, especially those operating businesses where the employment of a full-time bookkeeper or accountant is not justified. The modest cost of such service can easily be more than offset by the savings realized.

EDUCATION AS A WHOLE

THE SCHOOL

by VINCENT J. MALONEY

Supervising Principal St. Albert Public Schools

In this article I propose to have a look at school buildings of the future as they may be, and propose reasons why our present concepts of school facilities must undergo sharp revisions.

In the last fifty years the Canadian scene has undergone immense changes. From a predominantly agricultural society, we have become primarily urban and industrial. Those fifty years have seen the invention and acceptance of the automobile, the moving picture, television, the airplane, the missile, the transistor, the electric computer, and the promise of space travel. The second industrial revolution of automation is already underway.

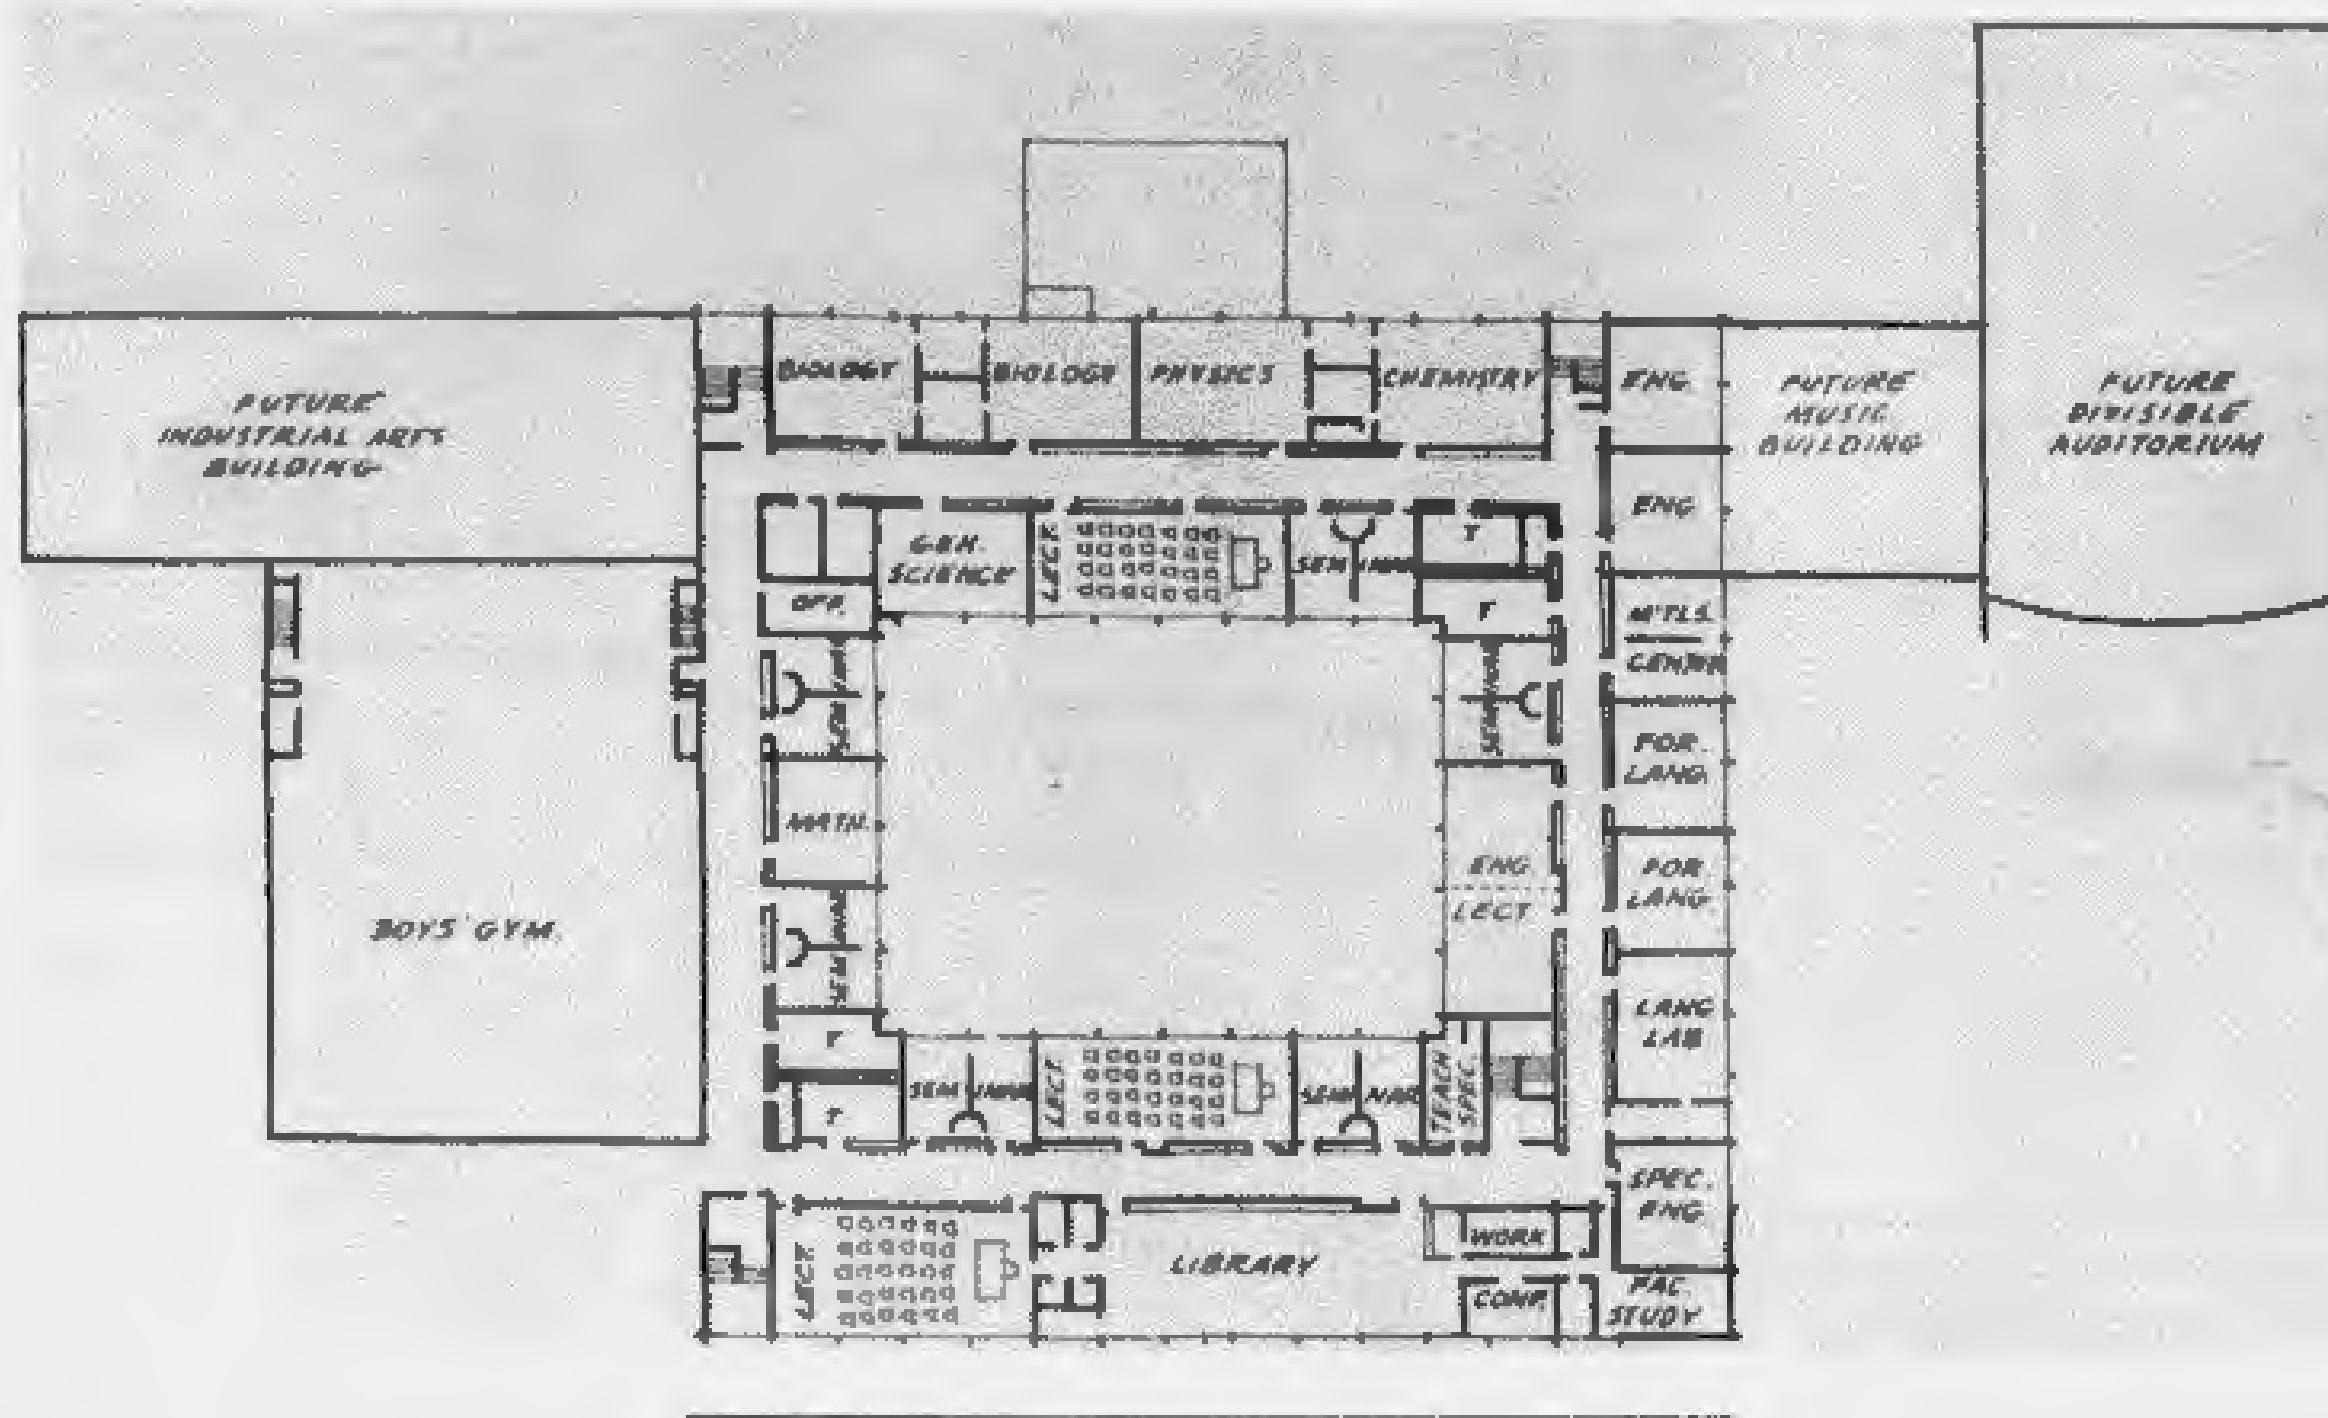

Certainly business and industry have been acutely aware of these vast changes in our society; in fact, have contributed toward them. How many businesses operate today as they did in 1900? Not only have they brought forth new products but have revolutionized their plants and merchandising techniques.

It is obvious that business and industry have learned to adjust to rapid, almost bewildering change. In 1900 they spent almost nothing on exploring new and better ways of doing their jobs. Today they spend billions on research alone.

How much money is spent today by our school systems on research to discover new and better ways to educate and house our children. Changes in education have been mainly in the realm of programme and not in bold exploration in new and better ways to teach and learn and build adaptable school buildings. How much experimentation is going on in Western Canada on new designs in schools? Robert C. Snider, the assistant executive secretary of the NEA's audio-visual department, expresses it this way. "In the United States since World War II, a very high level of technology has been reached in nearly every area of human activity - with the possible exception of the schools and the railroad".

Are schools in danger of becoming Stanley Steamers trying to operate in the world as it is today? Educators are now beginning to question the basic processes of the schools - the unassisted teacher, the boxlike classrooms, the fixed number of students, the lockstep of grades despite varying ability, the understacked libraries and the rarity of study rooms, the lack of electronic equipment for individual students which is in use in only a few of our schools. Neon lights might do more than just illuminate our streets!

Some American designers have come up with schools which are a radical departure from the conventional. The design below is not necessarily a good one but it is worthy of study. It is basically an attempt to provide a plant to implement new concepts in the teaching-learning process.

SMITH - ROSS

The St. Albert Roman Catholic Church was the scene recently of a colorful military wedding when Margaret Ann Ross, daughter of Mr. & Mrs. Neil Ross became the bride of Lieutenant Christopher Smith, son of Dr. and Mrs. Carl Smith of Truro, N.S.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Raymond Jevigny, a former school friend of the bride. White chrysanthemums decorated the church. Sister St. Joseph was the organist and Cameron Ross was soloist.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white taffeta which had a plain bodice with a square neckline and lily point sleeves. The full skirt was appliqued with seed pearl and was finished with a slight train. Her shoulder length bouffant veil was held in place by a pearl tiara. She carried a white prayer book, garlanded with a single orchid and stephanotis. The bride was attended by Miss Judy Buttar, Mrs. Noelle Asslessen and Miss Mary Lou Connors, the maid of honor. They wore identical dresses of royal blue brocade, made with plain bodice and bell shaped skirts. With these they wore white halo veils held in place with matching blue bows. Their bouquets were white chrysanthemums.

The best men were Capt. Chris. Snider, Lt. William Boles and Lt. Harry Blum. The ushers were members of the P.P.C.L.I. who also formed the guard of honor. Altar boys were Neil John Ross and John Stanton.

The reception was held in the Officer's Mess at Hamilton Gault Barracks. Receiving the guests were Mr. & Mrs. Ross, Dr. & Mrs. Smith, and the bridal party.

wool dress, topped with a Persian lamb jacket. Her accessories were black. Lt. & Mrs. Smith will make their home in Edmonton.

On Sunday, December 2, the Christian Family Movement sponsored a discussion evening for the parents of the Knights of the Altar. The guest speaker was Mr. Bus Farrell from Edmonton. Mr. Farrell discussed the parents' rôle in the encouragement of their children to a religious vocation. A very lively discussion followed the talk. The main questions were: what would be your reaction if your teen aged child announced he or she was leaving home for a vocation to the religious life? what are you doing in your home to foster religious vocations? how can a group such as this held in the fostering of more vocations to the religious life?

The evening concluded with a lunch served to the ladies of the Christian Family Movement.

Unto Us a Child is Born". Christmas Eve music will include the contralto and soprano solos, "He Shall Feed This Flock" and "Come Unto Them", by Mrs. Dobbie and Mrs. I. Shultz. This will be followed by the chorus, "This Yoke is Easy, This Burden is Light".

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS AT SEMINARY

The St. Albert Council of the Knights of Columbus was invited to hold its meeting of November 28th in the Assembly Hall at St. Joseph's Seminary. The meeting was well attended and proved to be most interesting and very entertaining.

Among the distinguished visitors present were Brother, the Reverend E. Crough, and many of the students at the Seminary. Father Crough gave a short talk ending on the theme of good example.

A presentation was made to Past Grand Knight, Ed Savoie, as a token of recognition for his good work while in office. Following the regular meeting, a very interesting report was given by Brother Leo Lancaster who attended the Social Life Conference at Vancouver. He dealt with such topics as Social Justice, relationship between labour and management and he referred to a sermon preached by Bishop Carroll on our duty towards the under privileged people of many countries, a duty which would act as a deterrent to the spread of Communism.

Brothers James Tigner and John Rose of the Seminary gave an outstanding performance of their musical ability with several numbers of double piano duets. These were thoroughly enjoyed by all present.

Films were shown, including "The Trail of the Midnight Sun", depicting the magnificence of nature along the Pacific Coast from Vancouver to Alaska.

An enjoyable evening ended with a delicious lunch. A sincere thanks goes to St. Joseph's Seminary for its hospitality, and to those who arranged the program.
